

“Rachel had a clear strategy from the moment we met to discuss selling my condo. This clearly set her apart from other realtors we interviewed who were much less decisive about their approach to the listing. Rachel's experience and strategy paid off. She expertly navigated the process from start to finish - from timing of the listing, work to be done prior to the listing, and scheduling the open house to receiving multiple bids and fiercely negotiating on our behalf to get a great deal. We were thrilled with the process and wouldn't hesitate to use Rachel again or refer our friends to her and the team.”
