

Maria and Ben were both very responsive to my questions, and they made time to take me to the property several times in response to issues that came up during inspection. Maria was extraordinarily patient during a long (10-month) search for the right property. She provided feedback and insight when I asked but never pressured me toward an offer. My interactions with Maria and Ben were extraordinary and I would rate my overall team experience a 10. Throughout the process, I felt Maria was honest and trustworthy and always represented herself in a professional manner. Without a doubt, I will highly recommend Valentino Associates to any friends or colleagues that are looking to move.
