

We recently sold our DC row house, which we had been renting out, and the experience with Rachel and her team was fabulous. She gave us some very smart advice about how much to invest in renovation without overdoing it, and when we decided on the work we wanted done, she had a great contractor who was reliable and did excellent work (a couple of times when there were problems, he came back and fixed them in a timely manner). Rachel helped us come up with a sale price that brought in an offer within a week of going live. She remained on top of things through the entire process until closing. We're very satisfied with their work
