

Rachel Valentino is hands down the best real estate agent in the DC area. Moving from out of the area can be a fluid endeavor. Ms Valentino has spent the time, energy and effort to meet our needs despite the distance and ever moving goal lines. She has never failed to respond and be responsive to our situation. Rachel has proved to be professional and personable at the same time- no easy feat in the hectic DC environment.

Above all, Rachel Valentino has proved to be a most kind individual. While that may be an odd thing to say about a real estate agent because it is a quality that cannot ever be properly assessed or even defined. For the client each move offers a new beginning. Rachel instinctively knows this and her clients are always made to feel at ease and listened to in what is often a trying time.

All this to say Rachel Valentino and her team are a class act.

I am bound and determined to be your favorite worst client.
