

"As a buyer, I wanted to know that the Realtors I chose would listen and represent me as if I were their only client. While that's not a realistic expectation, that's kind of service we received from Maria Fernandez when she represented my husband and me in our recent home purchase. We began our home search in a hot market and it took us longer than expected to find the right fit for our family. We put in three offers before we finally closed on a house. Maria's advice helped us navigate a competitive market and we found a house in a fantastic neighborhood. Maria was extremely attentive, answering questions always in less than 24 hours and usually much sooner than that.. She took us to visit no less than 20 houses and always had a patient, positive attitude. I really knew Maria was looking out for our interests when our need to find a house before the start of the school increased our pressure to buy. While we felt increased pressure to act, particularly moving across the country, Maria reminded us of our priorities, even when we were leaning toward more expensive houses that we had previously rejected. Rather than steering us to a bigger sale, she pointed us back toward our initial priorities. We could not have asked for a more responsive and professional agent and strongly recommend Maria Fernandez of Valentino and Associates to anyone needing an agent."
